Mother's Day

The beauty of Mother's Day today is that it's a way to recognize and honor the nourishing and nurturing part of motherhood, while also now recognizing that mothers, and the act of mothering, can take all different shapes and forms, each of which is deserving and worthy of being honored and celebrated.

National Fitness Day-May 4

Do you want to live a longer, healthier life? Then, physical fitness should be one of your top priorities. National Fitness Day in the United States was created as a way to encourage us to get off the couch, turn off the television, and work out. According to the creator, the goal of this day is to "celebrate strength and empowerment through fitness". Today you are encouraged to "get your sweat on".

Armed Forces Day May 16

This day honors the men and women currently serving in the U.S. military, including the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. It is part of Military Appreciation Month and is marked by various events such as parades and community gatherings that express gratitude for military service.

For the fallen.
For the fighting.
For the families.

Memorial Day, May 26th, is a day for remembering and honoring military personnel who died in the service of their country, particularly those who died in battle or as a result of wounds sustained in battle. Hang your American Flag on your porch or outside your door, add a touch of "red, white, and blue" to your home's décor or create some patriotic crafts over Memorial Day Weekend. You don't have to go all out to make your space feel more festive.

Cinco De Mayo means 5th of May in Spanish. It commemorates the Mexican victory over the French during the Battle of Puebla on May 5, 1862. Over time, it has evolved into a day of celebrating Mexican culture. If you want a more authentic way to celebrate, skip the margarita and enjoy some corn tamales with tomatillo salsa
